Vintage knitting

Revisit the knitting designs of the fabulous 40s in this modern update by RITA TAYLOR, a flattering shape with a feminine lace design

The continued popularity of vintage knitting patterns shows that some styles are always fashionable, and our gorgeous cardigan proves it! Taking on the shapes and patterns of 1940s knits, our cardigan incorporates the modern trend of waist-length hems that was also fashionable 60 years ago. You'll look the part when you wear the cardigan with a floral dress, as we've done, or you can bring the style into 2010 with jeans or smart trousers.

The open lace pattern lets colours from other tops show through, so experiment with what you've got in your wardrobe to find your favourite look. Let blouse collars peak over the square neckline for a dressier feel, or match the bright colour of the cardigan with a bold top to make a striking statement. You'll only need one or two balls of Country Life Aran to knit this cardigan, so it's an inexpensive project that will fit nicely into your knitting budget for the month.

Lacy lines

Use sloping rows of eyelets to create the fantastic lines in our cardigan. You'll see how they're supposed to be placed right away: It will be impossible to hide mistakes, so work on this project when you can give it your full attention. Knit the eyelets so they travel in different directions depending on the side of the cardigan you're working on, bringing them to a central point in the front and back. You'll work the cardigan in one piece up to the armholes, and you'll need to keep track of which sleeve is right and left so you sew them on correctly. Dropped shoulders give the cardigan a softer look, which complements the lace and makes it very comfortable to wear. It's sure to become a favourite!

Knit thin rib strips to create the neckband and front bands

FRONT BANDS

Using 4mm needles, cast on 9sts and work K1, P1 rib for the length required. Join onto the body as you go by knitting the last st of the band tog with a st from the front edge of every alt row. Join the fronts to the back along the shoulder seams.

NECKBAND

With the right side of the work facing, pick up and knit 9sts from the button band, 18 [20: 22: 24: 26]sts from the right front neck holder, 12 [14: 15: 16: 17]sts from the left front neck edge, K18 [20: 22: 24: 26] from the left front neck holder and 9sts from the buttonhole band.

Work 9 [9: 11: 11: 11] rows in K1, P1 rib, working mitred corners on every alt row as follows: Work to the last 2sts before the corner st. Where the first st on your left needle is a knit stitch, work ssk, K corner stitch, k2tog. Where the first st on your left needle is a purl stitch, work p2tog, K corner stitch, p2tog.

Stripes ahoy!

Get yourself stylishly ship-shape with this stripy cardigan by SIAN BROWN, a classic nautical design that beginners can sail through with flying colours

Deep blue, crisp white and bright red – that colour combination can only mean a nautical knit is on the horizon! This classic style is hot on the high street, and is a wardrobe essential this season. Complement any casual outfit with the laid-back look of this lovely design, easy to knit and great for slipping over strappy tops. If you want to venture past the standard blue jeans and white trousers, wear the cardigan with blue or red trousers that match the shades you've knitted with. You can carry on the nautical theme with gold jewellery, or finish the cardigan with gold buttons to complete the sailor-style look.

As well as being smart and stylish, our cardigan is designed to flatter your shape. Set-in sleeves give shoulders a square, smart look, balanced by the wide rib section around the waist. This accents your figure while giving shape to the garment, and you'll only have to increase a tiny bit on some of the sizes to work the rest of the body. Repeat the stripy rib on the sleeves so they puff out a little at the top.

Setting the stripes

This is an ideal project for beginners to challenge their new skills and prepare themselves for more difficult projects in the cooler months ahead. The shape of the cardigan is basic, giving you the chance to focus on keeping tension even while changing yarn colours for the stripes, and getting the hang of picking up stitches for the collar and button bands. Also, take time to sew in the sleeves so the stripes line up with the ones along the armhole. With a little patience, you'll have a new garment you'll be so proud of getting through!

Sweet baby set

Why pick your own strawberries when you can knit them instead? This coordinating set for babies by VAL PIERCE is berry cute indeed!

Babies are so angelic, and this little outfit of a cardigan and socks will make them even more adorable! It's designed to fit babies aged from six months to one year, and makes a wonderful gift that new parents will love. The complete set is best worn on cooler days, but when the weather's warmer, the socks and cardigan will still come in handy. The set is worked in a machine washable yarn, making it a practical choice for baby clothes. Each piece is knitted apart from the pretty strawberry flower embellishments on the cardigan, which have been crocheted and sewn into place. We give you the crochet pattern you need, but if you've never crocheted before you'll find our guide on page 96 very useful. We think the green buttons we've used on the cardigan are a good match for the green border detail, but if you want to customise the cardigan, you could use red buttons or even buttons in the shape of strawberries!

Dot to dot

What draws each piece in this set together are the tiny yellow hearts that give the outfit its strawberry style. They're actually done in single stitches, which can be fiddly to work as you'll need to make each one and change back to the red yarn afterwards. You might be tempted to carry the yarn across the back of your work – as you would in Fair Isle patterns – but unless you are very experienced in stranding this isn't a good idea as it could make the fabric too tight and uncomfortable for baby to wear. Try weaving in the ends as you go, or start off with the socks to get the hang of how to work these tiny features. We think this outfit is super-cute, so start it today!

Create contemporary style in easy stitches, and update your home's decor with our fantastic checked cushions. It's a simple sequence of working a row of squares that have been knitted and purled, then reversing the order to have purled squares on top of knitted ones, and vice versa. Beginners can work this easy pattern in one colour to get the hang of stocking stitch and reverse stocking stitch, while more experienced knitters can bring in a second colour to emphasise the change in stitch texture. Use intarsia techniques to work each colour, rather than stranding the unused yarn across.

Whichever version of the cushion you decide to make, finish the front with pretty buttons sewn individually or in clusters at the points where four squares meet. We've used simple pearl buttons on the two-tone cushion, so they don't overpower the other shades, and small coloured buttons on the plain one. Experiment with different buttons to get the right look for your home.

Colourwork & knit weave

Read expert Di Gilpin's top tips on combining colour techniques, and how to weave in new colours to make her gorgeous tank top design...

Colourwork in knitting has always been of great interest to me, so last summer I started working on an idea of combining the two great traditional techniques of Fair Isle and Intarsia in one garment. The traditional way of working Fair Isle is to strand the yarn at the back of the work, only using two colours in one row, working in small, repetitive patterns which require a change of colour every two or three stitches, and using different colours very regularly every row or two to create a more complicated colour palate. Intarsia allows you to use colours in blocks and shapes in the middle of designs, instead of changing at the end of a row.

Letters and lines: Add words into the pattern around the middle to give the design an extra effect

In addition to different forms of colourwork, I love the traditional jumpers from the Northern Isles. In my collection, I have a beautiful old slipover I found in a charity shop years ago in Inverness, when I was living on Skye. I pulled it out of my store cupboard one day and left it on my desk next to some drawings and paintings I'd made of native roses (part of another commission), and started work on a new piece. These are some notes on how I designed the Rambling Rose tank top on page 44, which I encourage you to try, particularly if you are as in love with this style of knitting as I am!

THE WELT

Where to start? Two colours I think. Cast on – rather special – by inserting the needle between each stitch to create the new stitch, and use the main colour and contrast A in tandem to give that lovely two-colour cast on edge. Strand each colour behind the work, and keep the two fibres separate with a loose tension. Colourwork of this sort requires lightness of touch to allow the fibres to breathe within their stitch space.

A knitter who recently visited my studio was struggling with this very problem – her tension was too tight and her two-colour work was puckered up. I told her to remember to hold the yarns lightly – try not to wrap them around your fingers tightly, and when stranding, keep the two balls of yarn on opposite sides and do not cross them. Keep strand A at the top, and strand B at the bottom. Half an hour later, this visitor was giggling and happily on her way to practice!

There is a way to stop your welt from curling. I have included this technique in the pattern, but you can use it wherever to give a lovely edge to your knitting. The first four rows of two-colour rib are worked in K1, [contrast A], P1, [contrast B]. I then change colours, and work more rows in K1, K1 rib. Then, it's back to one or two rows of K1, P1, and so on. This keeps the work from rolling in on itself.

THE BODY

We now have a multicoloured and textured welt. The rest of the pattern is knitted using

The welt: Work additional colours in between each rib for a different look combination of techniques, I included some lettering text in the pattern and a Danish rose design that I happen to be very fond of – it's the graphic version of one of my drawings, which I have also included as a contrast.

KNIT WEAVE

When working the Danish rose pattern (see the photo on page 42), I used knit weave techniques to give that wonderful finish to the back. When you reach the section of colour, you have to think about where each colour is used. There are points when two strands of different colours are used together to give a slightly raised look, such as on the rose lettering. I have worked it so that these two colours arrive at the point where they are to be knitted together naturally. The main colour in the background is carried throughout the work, and woven in using knit weave behind the sections of big blocks of colour, such as on the Danish rose. I used this technique when working smaller sections of intarsia, as I think it gives more integrity to your work.

When knit weaving, I weave the new colour for two or three stitches behind the work before I get to the point where I will introduce it. At that point, I change to the new colour and start to weave the old colour at the back of the work. I weave every stitch. I first weave the resting colour up and over the yarn being knitted, then down and back at the next stitch. I keep one ball of yarn on my left, and one on my right and they should not tangle or cross over except at the point of weaving – up and cross over, down and cross back. Twist and untwist. This technique develops into a flowing action, and creates a beautiful finish. No strands and a flat surface, plus better join and tension. The photos on this page show what the back of the work looks like.

Repeat the rose: Work the rose design on its own on the top of the back, and again in the centre front

Knit weave: Weave ends into the work as you go to create a neater finish

FAIR ISLE

Where there are bits of the classic Fair Isle, I go back to stranding for two or three stitches, but never more than that. The Scandinavian patterns that are incorporated into Fair Isle patterns are much bigger – stars and flowers – and require a different approach. Also, Fair Isle is knitted in the round with only the knit stitch involved. The pattern I've made requires you to be able to weave on the purl side, too. Some people do find this difficult, but I think because you are working on both sides it makes you aware of the inside of the work. The knit weave gives a great finish, rather than loose threads, and no puckering.

NECKBAND AND ARMBANDS

I've finished off the tank top with the same kind of rib pattern that I worked on the welt, closing off the design nicely. Look back at the welt section of my masterclass for a refresher course on how to work these areas.

Rugged jacket

Knit this autumn essential by PAT MENCHINI for the adventurous man in your life, a practical and cosy garment that's designed for the outdoors

Does your man love the outdoors? Make sure he keeps warm as the days cool down in this cosy jacket, great for taking along as he explores the countryside at the weekend or walks the dog in the mornings. He can wear it loosely if he needs to, and button it up to the collar when it gets chilly. Deep pockets allow him to safely store essentials like snacks, folded maps and a mobile, and the loose fit allows him to layer as many T-shirts as he needs underneath.

The textured basketweave stitch pattern is what truly gives the jacket its rustic, outdoors feel that looks right at home with jeans and heavy boots. It's a combination of ribs and garter stitch worked over 12 rows – you'll need to change the position of the different stitch patterns halfway through to get the woven appearance. This also makes the pattern reversible, which is ideal when he wants to wear the jacket unbuttoned.

A pocket guide

Deep pockets are a must on jackets, and it's so easy to incorporate them into this design. Knit the linings before you start working on the fronts, leaving them on stitch holders until you've knitted a few inches from the bottom. Take off the same number of stitches that are on the lining, saving them to work on later. Knit from the lining stitches on the holders instead, creating a hole that you'll close when you fix the lining into place. Use the slipped off stitches to knit a ribbed top for the pockets, and cast off loosely to keep it elastic.

IN THE DETAIL

Work the border from top to bottom, spacing buttonholes evenly as you go. Knit them by casting off and then casting on stitches to create holes.

NECKBAND

Join the shoulders. Using 5mm needles, RS facing, pick up and knit 18 [20: 25: 28: 28]sts evenly around the right front neck, K across the back neck sts, finally pick up and knit 17 [19: 24: 24: 27]sts evenly around the left front neck. 60 [64: 76: 84: 84]sts.

Beg with a row 2, work 19 rows in rib as on the back. Cast off in rib, working firmly on sizes L, XL and XXL.

FRONT BORDERS

Using 5mm needles, cast on 11sts.

Row 1 [RS]: K2, (P1, K1) four times, K1.

Row 2: K1, (P1, K1) five times.

Rep these two rows until the border, when slightly stretched, fits up the right front edge, ending after row 2. Cast off in rib.

Mark positions on the border for seven buttonholes, first one to be in the fifth or sixth rows from the lower edge, last one to be in the fifth or sixth rows from the cast on edge and the remaining five spaced evenly between.

Work the second border as the first, but working holes to match markers in this way:

Row 1: Rib 3, cast off 4sts, rib to end.

Row 2: Work in rib, casting on 4sts where the sts were cast off.

MAKING UP

Do not press. Sew down the pocket linings on WS and tops on RS. Sew the cast off edge of the sleeves to the side edges of the back and fronts, allowing approximately 59 [62: 66: 64: 73] rows for the armhole. Join the side and sleeve seams. Fold the neckband in half to the wrong side and sew into place. Sew on the borders, and then the buttons. Press the seams on the WS. ■

Find great ways to finish your crochet projects in this book by Betty Barden

Jumper stumper

Q I am in the middle of crocheting a jumper for my grandson; the pattern is plain, and uses one colour of yarn. I thought it would be nice to personalise it some way – any suggestions? Bev Crocker, Fulham

A Gemma says: There are many ways to put your own touch on a project, such as adding stripes, fringes and embroidery. Surface crochet is also a great technique, as it involves working into your crocheted piece using slip stitch along the surface to create your design. Cut yourself a template out of card, and use a fabric pen to mark out the design on your crocheted piece. Then, work around your marked area using slip stitch. Or, you can try cross stitching a design onto your crocheted piece – it's so easy and effective! Adding buttons also makes your piece look unique. There are some fantastic ceramic buttons in the shops at the moment, but if you are feeling creative you could make your own out of contrasting yarn. A great book for all these techniques and more is Finishing techniques for crochet by Betty Barden, which costs £9.99 from the website www.searchpress.com

Natural fibres

Q I'm a vegan and don't wear animal products, so I'm very interested in yarns that derive from plants. I have a pattern for a knitted picnic blanket using four different shades of DK wool. Could you find me a good alternative, please? Pat Fowler, Nuneaton

Nature's Way Try hemp yarn in a stunning range of colours from House of Hemp

House of Hemp Find out how to get diagonal stripes without using intarsia

A Jo says: Cotton yarn is widely available, but I suggest using hemp yarn as it's much more environmentally friendly and is extremely strong. Hemp doesn't rot as quickly as cotton, and it also has the advantage of being resistant to ultraviolet light and mould – so it's great for putting on the ground on a sunny day! To substitute the wool for a similar thickness, you need to buy 4ply hemp, which costs £5.50 for a 50g hank from www.houseofhemp.co.uk or call the shop on 01288 381638.

Lining up

Q I believe there is a way of working diagonal stripes without carrying lots of different colours at once. Can you tell me how to do this, please? Amanda Roland, Hereford

A Rita says: Well, Amanda, I'm pleased to tell you that there are actually two ways of working diagonal stripes without using the Intarsia method. The first way is to begin with three stitches, then increase one stitch at the beginning of every row, changing colours as needed. When the base is as wide as you want it to be, start to decrease one stitch at one edge, and keep the other one straight until the piece is the correct length. This method will give you a straight edge at the bottom. Alternatively, cast on the required number of stitches, then increase one stitch at the beginning of every row and work two stitches together at the end. Do this on every alternate row, changing colours as often as you like. This method will create a sloped edge, as shown in the knitted sample above. >>>

Knitting essentials Make sure you've got these gadgets to hand when you start knitting

Knitting essentials

Q Besides yarn and needles, what knitting equipment should I buy? I'm on a budget so don't want to waste money on things I don't need.

Zoe Preston, Pontefract

A Jo says: There are so many tempting knitting products, but if I had to choose only one thing, it would be a tape measure. Knitting a swatch and measuring before knitting is essential for getting the right tension. If you want a few more basics, treat yourself to the Clover Knit Mate. It contains a knitting needle gauge, two large and two small needle point protectors, two locking stitch holders, one small and one large tapestry needle, 20 stitch markers, a tape measure and a clear plastic wallet to carry it all in. It costs £12.99 from www.artofyarn.co.uk or call 01304 619616.

Twining away

Q I keep reading about twined knitting. Please can you tell me what it is, and how to do it?

Judi Gordon, Southport

A Rita says: Twined knitting, also known as two-end knitting, originated in Scandinavia. It is a way of making a double fabric in one colour. Twined knitting is usually worked in the round and is ideal for hats, mittens and standard-shaped sweaters. The simplest way to begin is to cast on as normal with a strand from the inside of the ball, then join in the second strand from the outside of the ball. Knit each stitch alternately, first with the centre strand then with the outside one, always bringing the new strand over the first one. You'll notice that working in this way causes the yarns to become twisted together; to undo the twist, hold up the knitting every so often and let it unwind itself, or you can push a needle through the ball of yarn and hold that up while it spins.

Twining away
Use this great technique for a double fabric

Complicated cable knitting

Q I have a cable sweater pattern that I would like to knit, but I can't understand the abbreviations – I think it may be from America. Are all knitting abbreviations universal?

Heidi Roberts, Knebworth

A Jo says: Even in the UK, abbreviations can differ. Your pattern will have the exact translation for the abbreviation, so it's a good idea to practise the pattern on spare yarn. Keep it by you when you knit your sweater properly as a guide, but you'll probably

Chain stitching

Q Can you make projects by just using chain stitch?

Teresa Evans, Fordingbridge

A Gemma says: Yes, the chain stitch is the foundation of any project, and it can be used on its own to create some lovely items. I recently came across a great shopping bag pattern that used chain and slip stitch (which is another form of chain stitch). The finished crocheted piece looks like a fishing net. Take a look at Beginner's guide to crochet by Pauline Turner, as she has a couple of bag patterns to get you started. You can also use chain stitch to make ties for other projects like cardigans and bags, which can then be decorated with beads and buttons for that extra finishing touch. Another great way of using chain stitch is to make embroidery patterns that you can sew or darn onto existing projects. You can have hours of fun using various yarns and hook sizes to create some lovely projects – just let your imagination get carried away and see what you come up with!

have got the confidence to tackle it by then. Cables, like all knitting patterns, are just a mixture of knit and purl stitches – it's how you move them about that makes the pattern. Knitting for dummies (ISBN 10: 0470287470) has a very good glossary, which makes even the most complicated cable easy to understand. To buy it for £9.74, go to www.whsmith.co.uk

Making mats

Q I've recently crocheted some placemats, which look great but could do with jazzing up a little. Do you have any suggestions for this?
Carolyn MacKenzie, Altrincham

A Gemma says: Shell edging is a pretty and delicate way to add an individual touch to your projects. Working in double crochet or long stitch into a base stitch creates a lovely shell shape, simple to make but very effective. The structure of shell stitch is to use three or more double crochet into a base stitch to create a small edge, then using five or more treble crochet in the same way to give you a large shell edge. Your yarn choice is totally up to you as this stitch works well in most fibres. Use a small hook, and keep an eye on your tension as you want each shell to be the same width and height.

MOST TALKED ABOUT SUBJECT

Sanquhar knitting

Q What is Sanquhar knitting?
Lisa Rawdle, Colchester

A Dorothy says: Sanquhar knitting is a traditional, centuries-old technique from Dumfriesshire in Scotland. The distinctive geometric patterns knitted in black and white yarn, such as Duke, Midge and Fly, Rose and Prince of Wales were passed down through the generations. Stockings with a patterned border were popular in the 50s, but the gloves, which are patterned all over, have a bit of a cult following these days – especially in Japan. The gloves are knitted in a Fair Isle technique with very fine double-pointed needles, have a unique three-sided finger construction and it is traditional to incorporate the wearer's initials on the inside wrist band. The gloves are intermediate to advanced and you need to be able to knit with four needles. Knitting patterns are available from SWRI www.swri.org.uk (01312 2517420) or you can buy a kit including 2ply Shetland yarn from europapintrading.com for £16.50.

Q Sanquhar knitting patterns suggest 3ply yarn. I'm struggling to find this – is there an alternative?
Sasha Aliman, Gorleston

A Dorothy says: Traditional patterns call for 3ply wool, but that is not easy to find these days. However, you can use 2ply Shetland lace yarn instead. Jamieson's of Shetland produces Lace Ultra yarn, which is 50% Shetland and 50% lambswool. As well as the black and white traditionally used for Sanquhar knitting, this yarn is also available in a range of stunning pastel colours, allowing you to create a contemporary look with a traditional pattern. Although 3.25mm needles are recommended for Ultra, you can use a needle size 2.25mm or smaller to create the denser knitting for the glove pattern. The yarn is available from www.jamiesonsshetland.co.uk

A traditional take Knit a traditional Sanquhar pattern in tonal shades to give it a contemporary look

Q Do you know how I can knit different sizes of Sanquhar gloves, as I've only been able to find patterns that are in one size?
Joan Nelson, Preston

A Dorothy says: Glove patterns for Sanquhar knitting are one-size, and then you alter the size by knitting with different sizes of needles. Traditionally a UK size 13 or 14 needle was used for men's, and a tiny size 16 needle for ladies' gloves. Size 16 is a very small 1.5mm needle in today's metric sizes. The Knitting and Crochet Guild has 20cm or 8in double-pointed needles sold in a pack with four sets of five needles, ranging in sizes from 1.5–2.25mm. These anodised aluminium needles are different colours so that you don't get them mixed up. The Susan Bates Sock Set is £6.25 from www.kcgtrading.com. For more information on suitable yarns and working out gauges for Sanquhar gloves, visit the Fair Isle section of www.knittingtraditions.com

Knitting history Scottish Sanquhar patterns have passed down through generations

3 top tips on Sanquhar knitting

1 When using two yarn colours, hold the black in your right hand and the white over the left index finger. Keep the same yarn in the same hand.

2 Cast on using the double cast on or long tail methods, which create a firm, elastic edge for the cuff of Sanquhar gloves.

3 Work out the pattern for your own initials on graph paper, using seven rows and up to seven stitches for each letter.

This is a project designed to bring a smile to everyone's face – the lucky child who gets to wear it, the mum who gets to see her little girl or boy in it, and the knitter who gets to make it!

Bursting with colour and fun techniques, our sweater is a great project to cast on when you want to make something both fun and practical – there's a wealth of interest in every stitch. Kids can wear this sweater on playdates with friends to stay warm when there's a chilly breeze, or when you're having a special day out with all the family. Kool Kotton is a brilliant yarn for kids as it is machine washable, and the blend of cotton and acrylic is perfect for unpredictable weather during the change of seasons.

You'll use six colours in total throughout the sweater, and you can see how each one adds something extra to the design. Start off with red along the hem, then change to green to work the lower body. Add some purple in the middle, then work blocks of blue and cream above that, before settling into cream to finish the armhole shaping. Work a similar colour pattern on the sleeves, then add a coral collar. Lastly, knit purple and coral trims to give the hem a scalloped look, an easy technique that can be adapted for other designs in your pattern library. It also adds a fun touch to the sweater, which is exactly what you want with kids' garments.

While the sweater requires a lot of yarn for all the colours involved, Texere is offering it at a special discount for Knit Today readers! Find out more at the bottom of the next page.

Both fashionable and functional, our gorgeous hairband pattern can be adapted and customised in three different ways to suit the styles and personalities of all your friends!

Choose the design you want to knit, then work the style into our basic pattern to make the band. Friends who like vintage fashion will love our bow hairband, while our beaded lace band is perfectly boho chic. We've added a pretty crochet flower to our tweedy hairband, which has been given extra texture with a simple cable pattern that says classic elegance. Each hairband only needs one ball of yarn, so pick the right style to fit those single balls kicking around your stash, and then treat your friends and family to a thoughtful gift to wear this summer.

Start here!

BASIC PATTERN

Begin by making an i-cord. Cast on 3sts on a 3mm double-pointed needle, and K the 3sts. *Push the sts to the other end of the same needle. Bring the yarn across the back of the work, and K3 again. Give the yarn a tug after the first stitch so the last and first sts pull together. Continue from *, knitting rows and sliding the stitches along the same needle after each row. After a few rows, the tube will become more evident. Work until the i-cord is about 30cm or 11½in long.

Change to standard 3.5mm knitting needles. Knit one row.

*Purl one row.

Next row: M1 on the first and second to last sts. Repeat from * until there are 17sts, ending on a knit row.

Knit the pattern of your choice for 40cm or 16in ending on a knit row.

*Purl one row.

Next row: K2tog through the back of the sts, knit to the last two sts, K2tog.

Repeat from * until there are 3sts, ending on a purl row.

Change to 3mm double-pointed needles on the next K row.

Work an i-cord to match the other end. Sew in the yarn ends.

Organic yarns

As time goes by you'll see more and more organic yarns in knitting shops, online and in your favourite magazine, Knit Today. It's small wonder really; they're made from fibres produced without the use of man-made chemicals in pesticides and fertilisers. And they're either left in their natural state or coloured using non-toxic, organic dyes. Organic yarns tend to be very high in quality, with the only downside being that they're usually more expensive than standard yarns. But this is definitely one of those cases of getting what you pay for. »»

We've used Pandora style beads on our top, which is a hot trend in necklaces and bracelets right now. It's so easy to incorporate them into the design, and knitters looking to stretch their skills will enjoy learning this new technique. There are a wide variety of Pandora beads available in online shops and craft stores, and you can give the top a more dressed up or dressed down look depending on what kind you use. Finishing touches

There are a few subtle things in making up this top that give it a clean, professional look. One is in the folded-up hem along the bottom that gives it a smooth edge. You'll also finish the armhole and neckline by picking up and immediately casting off stitches, creating a simple border. Then, adding the cord couldn't be easier – just attach the centre of the cord to the centre of the neckline, and thread the cord through the eyelets at the top with a bead between each hole. Add beads to the cord ends, then sit back and admire what you've made!

With a 3.25mm circular needle, and working from the RS, pick up 180 (184; 188; 192; 196; 200; 204; 208)sts evenly around the neckline. Turn and cast off knitwise. Fasten off. Using small backstitches, sew the left shoulder seam.

ARMHOLE EDGING (BOTH ALIKE)

With a circular 3.25mm needle, and working from the RS, pick up 100 [104: 104: 112: 112: 116: 116: 120]sts evenly around the armhole. Turn and cast off knitwise. Fasten off. Using small backstitches, sew both side seams. Turn the hem to the inside at the ridge row. Sew it down.

CORD

Using either finger knitting or a crochet hook, leave a long end of yarn and then make a length of chain that measures 60cm or $4\frac{1}{2}$ in, then leave a long end and break the yarn.

Sew the centre of the cord neatly to the centre of the neckline above the line of eyelet holes. Thread both ends through the first bead, then through the next two holes, through the second bead, then through the next two holes, then through the third bead. Pull up so the fabric forms ridges, then make a bow and sew it into place. Attach beads to each end of the chain. Make large knots by knotting two or three times in same place at the end of the chain. Using the long ends of yarn, sew the knot into place. Fasten off the yarn ends. ■

Beading basics

If you've never worked with beads before, take the chance to learn something new by making our blanket. You'll need to thread all the beads onto the balls of yarn first (use a thin needle to help with this), and draw them up when you need them. Follow our instructions in the abbreviations to place each bead, working them into the panel designs. Keep one panel plain to set off the other two, and to give yourself a break from the beadwork. You'll love the tiny glimmers of light you'll get from each little bead, making your throw one-of-a-kind!

To begin, knit only the first two stitches in the cast off row.

Push the left needle through the first stitch. Lift it over the second stitch and off the right needle.

With one stitch now on the right needle, knit another stitch and repeat step 2 until row end.

Knit ■ LEARN THE STITCH THAT EVERYONE'S CRAZY ABOUT

Insert the right needle into the left needle's top stitch, from front to back, with the yarn at the back.

Hold the yarn around your right index finger and wrap it clockwise around the right needle.

Using the right needle, pull this new loop of yarn through the stitch on the left needle.

Ease the stitch off the left needle, keeping the new stitch on the right needle. Repeat steps 1-4.

How to crochet

Get hooked on crochet with these easy steps!

Foundation chain

■ LIKE CASTING ON, THIS IS THE BASIS FOR YOUR CROCHET PROJECT

To start, make a slipknot around your crochet hook, following the steps at the top of page 94.

Bring the yarn around the hook from the back to the front, and catch the yarn with the hook.

With the yarn still under the hook, bring the hook through the slipknot to create a new loop.

Lengthen the chain by repeating steps 2-3, creating a new chain stitch with each repeat.

Turning chain

■ HOW TO START THE NEXT ROW

At the end of the row, work chain stitches into the last loop to equal the height of the next stitch.

Turn your work around and start making the next stitch, as instructed in your pattern.

Cut the yarn, leaving a 15cm or 6in tail. Draw this end through the loop on your hook.

Pull the entire length of yarn through the loop, and tighten gently. Weave in the end.

Double crochet

■ A BASIC STITCH THAT CREATES A DENSE FABRIC

Insert your hook into the loop of the next stitch, and carry the yarn over the hook.

Bring the yarn through the stitch. You will now have two loops on your crochet hook.

Carry the yarn over the hook again, and draw this through both loops on your crochet hook.

Try this!

Try a variety of crochet stitches when you make the flower for one of our hairbands on page 67.

Treble crochet

■ A TALLER STITCH FOR A MORE OPEN RESULT

Carry the yarn all the way over your crochet hook, and insert your hook into the next stitch.

Carry the yarn over the hook, and pull this through the stitch. There are now three loops on the hook.

Carry the yarn over the hook, and pull it through the first two loops on the hook. There are two left.

Carry the yarn over the hook once more, and pull it through the last two loops on the hook.
